Victory in Grand Circuit Caps Vet Driver's Career

ECK STALEY AND PETER DEAR

"Eck" Staley, 71, of Richwood Has Story of Race Tracks That Rivals Fiction.

By BOB BYRD

An unusual success story of the race track that rivals fiction was written in Ohio harness horse records this year with a 71 year old Union county man as the hero

It's a story in itself that a 71 year old man trained and drove his horse to victory in six races this year

But it's still a better story because the track veteran this year produced the best horse he ever handled in his 45 year career and for the first time beat the grand circuit.

The driver and trainer is Alexander B Eck Staley of near Sumersville six miles west of Richwood and his best horse is Peter Dear a seven year old bay gelding

Staley, horsemen say probably has few equals in age as competitors at county fair races in Ohio but in the grand circuit he is even more a standout as a driver The grand circuit horsemen explain is to harness racing what the major leagues are to baseball and the small time driver who takes a whirl at the grand circuit is likely to make himself ridiculous if he doesn't know his way around

After 45 years of working with horses bringing out their good points and training them to give their best in a race Staley arrived at the conclusion last August at Celina that he and Peter Dear were good enough to travel a few miles with the grand circuit when it opened at the Ohio State fair on Aug [illegible] John Haines half owner of the horse and other friends of Staley remonstrated but Staley insisted the time for his big fling had come He and Peter Dear went to the state fair grounds

We started out in a field of 16 horses and won the very first heat Staley related We went in [illegible]08¼ to do it but Peter Dear can do that all right—he went in 2 03 second heat to place second and once Then we came back in the finish second in the third heat

That won us second money $145 On Friday the last day of the grand circuit I drove Peter Dear again this time in the 2 18 trot He finished first in the sec

LAWYERS TO DEBATE PICKING OF JUDGES

American Bar Association Group To Discuss Problems in Columbus Jan 5, 6, 7

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Dec 24—The house of delegates of the American Bar association will debate and report at its first meeting here Jan 5 6 and 7 on the best means of selecting judges—and the best means of removing them from office

Attempting to determine whether it is better to elect or appoint judges of the various American courts the group will discuss what has experience shown as to the relative desirability of existing methods of selection of judges

When that question is finished they will turn to deliberation of what procedure and grounds for removal of judges have been found to be the most satisfactory?

The house of delegates was established last year to provide a closer contact between the national association and state units

Busy Round of Activities Mark White House Holiday

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Dec 24 — The White House holiday program was so full today that President Roosevelt had to advance part of the family's traditional Christmas eve reading of Dickens' A Christmas Carol

He read an installment of the old story about Tiny Tim and Old Scrooge as grandchildren and adults listened carefully

The gaiety of a big house full of young people was marred by word that Franklin Jr ill in a Boston hospital would be unable to come home for Christmas

His sister Anna, Mrs. John Boettiger, will be the only other missing member of the four-generation family She and her husband have just moved to Seattle.

Climaxing with the dedication of the capital's community Christmas tree by the President late in the afternoon, the day was filled with a busy round of holiday activities for both Mr and Mrs Roosevelt

The first lady agreed to aid in distributing baskets during the morning to 1,[illegible]00 needy children at a downtown theater and at a Salvation Army party early in the afternoon

Mr Roosevelt called his secretaries clerks and stenographers to his office at 11 a. m, for their annual gifts.

The maids, butlers cooks and police guards of the White House were invited to the east room where a giant white tree hung with icicles stood for their party just before sundown.

After lighting the community Christmas tree in Lafayette park, across the street from the executive mansion, the President will give his Yuletide greetings to the nation at 5 p. m.

There was bustle back-stairs in

POPE ASKS GOD KEEP PEACE TO REPAY HIS PAIN

Says Conflict in Spain Points to Future Trouble Unless Remedy Is Provided

ALSO ATTACKS GERMANY

Fight Over Youth Education Causes Nazis To Ban Pontiff's Talk from Radio

By The Associated Press

VATICAN CITY Dec 24—Stricken Pope Pius XI offered his human suffering today to God for peace among men and for God's own glory, now more than ever so impiously attacked

Propped up in bed his eyes shutting the Holy Father in halting but fervent tones bespoke to the whole world his horror of the evil force of communism which he cried have brought in Spain signs and portends of terrifying reality of what is being prepared for Europe and the whole world if they do not hasten to adopt the necessary remedies of defense

Forcing himself on he murmured his grief at the false and fatal ways of some who fight communism and atheism yet portray the church as an avowed enemy of national prosperity and progress

Refers to Germany

This was interpreted by Vatican authorities as a reference to Nazi Germany which alone of the world's major nations having diplomatic relations with the Holy See refused today to rebroadcast the Pontiff's address

New tension between Nazi Germany and the Vatican over the education of Germany's Catholic youth was the cause of the reich's refusal to rebroadcast the pope's Christmas speech informed sources said

It may have been his last Christmas message to Christianity

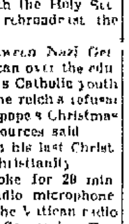
His Holiness spoke for 20 minutes through a radio microphone held to his lips by the Vatican radio director Father Soccorsi Frequently he paused to sip from a cup of water Afterwards he was tired but thankful

Heard in Argentine

He was told his words had been heard perfectly in faraway Buenos Aires

Thanks be to God he cried

He called for a union of all men of good will against the propaganda of the enemy —by which he meant communism—and prayed that God accept his present suffering for His own glory for the conversion of all who have gone astray for peace and the good of the entire church—and in particular for Spain



In Spain the Holy Father cried propaganda and evil forces have wished to make the supreme experiment of all the destructive forces scattered throughout the world which they have at their command

There is a new menace more threatening than ever before for the whole world and particularly

POSSIBLE WHITE CHRISTMAS SEEN

Northern Ohio Including Marion May Get Snow Is Forecast

There's a chance that snow may greet Santa Claus in Marion and generally through northern Ohio

The high temperatures which have prevailed throughout the week will continue tonight followed by a drop Friday and rain turning to snow the federal weather bureau forecast today according to the Associated Press

Yesterday's maximum temperature in Marion was 47 degrees, 20 degrees higher than a year ago Last night's low was 29 degrees A year ago the minimum was 13

Marion carol singers tonight will perform under cloudy skies with warmer weather prevailing

Marion Makes Elaborate Plans To Spread Cheer of Christmas Tomorrow

Church Services, Toy Party and Mayor's Dinner for Children Mark Day as Entire City Joins in Observance of Annual Holiday.

The joy of Christmas will be spread in Marion today on a more lavish scale than in any recent year

No child will be without a toy, no family will be without a Christmas dinner thanks to the whole-hearted efforts of individuals and groups in preparing gala Christmas parties for the boys and girls and filling generous baskets for hundreds of Christmas dinners

Three huge Christmas parties for children will be given Christmas day the annual community children's party at 9:30 a m at the Palace theater expected to draw 1500 boys and girls, Mayor Frederick C Smith's turkey dinner at noon for [illegible] children at the Wesley M E church and Salvation Army hall and the annual party which Buckeye Aerie No [illegible] F O Eagles will give at night at 7:30 for approximately 500 children of members and boys and girls invited to be guests of members

Christmas services will be conducted early morning in three Marion churches The annual Christmas service of Marion Commandery No 6 Knights Templar will be conducted from 10 to 11 a m in the Masonic temple Bountiful family dinners, entertaining theater programs and a private dance Christmas night will add to the festival spirit of the day

Virtually all business and industrial activity will cease Christmas day The library, postoffice and city and county offices will be closed Only incoming outgoing and special delivery mail will be handled at the postoffice County offices will remain closed Saturday but city offices will reopen Saturday morning Mayor Smith said yesterday

Hundreds of baskets were distributed yesterday and today to needy families of the city many by individuals social clubs and civic organizations 211 by the St Vincent de Paul society of St Mary Catholic church and approximately 150 by the Salvation Army A quantity of the food in the Army baskets was raised at a theater party given by the Delphian club and a large portion of the supplies in the St Vincent de Paul baskets was contributed by children at St Mary school

Approximately 700 families on direct relief received special Christmas food orders this week with no restrictions as to how the money was to be spent County Relief Director John Abel estimated that about $1,700 was distributed from a special fund which he built up over a period of months from each state grant The orders were a Christmas surprise to the families

One hundred and ten families, totaling approximately 675 persons, today received bushel baskets or cartons of food toys and small Bibles provided by the employes of the Marion office of Forest Glen Inc Names were obtained from Mr Abel In addition the employes sent gifts to the Marion County Children's home and to several crippled children in the city

1,500 Provided For

The annual community children's party Friday morning will provide Christmas cheer for about 1,500 boys and girls. The doors will open at 9 a. m After screening of several novelty shorts especially selected to amuse children, the big moment of the party will come—the distributing of a doll or a toy and candy and fruit to every boy

WOMAN WINS IN LOAN SUIT

Judge Rules Bucyrus Plaintiff Depositor Not Stockholder in Citizens Company

TO ACT IN OTHER CASES

Court Holds Mrs Weller Is Entitled to Share in Receiver's Dividends

Mrs Craig Weller of Bucyrus yesterday won her suit to establish herself as a depositor rather than a stockholder in the Citizens Building & Loan Co

A decision to that effect was given by Judge Henry M Rankin of Fayette county in deciding an issue raised by an intervening petition Mrs Weller filed Aug [illegible] contending she is entitled to share in the company's liquidation dividends on an equal basis with persons classed definitely as depositors

C D Schaffner receiver for the company had refused to pay dividends to Mrs Weller on the grounds she was a stockholder The decision apparently entitles her to a 20 per cent payment on her account which totaled $8,653.88 at the time the company was closed for liquidation

200 Classed as Stockholders

Whether approximately 200 other persons who have been classed by the receiver as stockholders will benefit from the decision was a matter of conjecture today

Fred W Warner attorney for the receiver said he will take steps at once to clear the question by filing a petition for a declaratory judgment defining the status of each account holder now classed as a stockholder

It was made clear in Judge Rankin's 12 page decision on Mrs Weller's case that the particular set of circumstances surrounding her opening and continuation of an account at the Citizens Building & Loan Co entitled her to be classed as a depositor rather than a stockholder This left the implication that others classed as stockholders will have to be classified according to the circumstances of their particular cases

FRANCE WARNS NAZIS SHE'LL HELP MADRID

Delbos Says Neutrality Stand Will Be Abandoned If Germany Sends More Troops.

By The Associated Press

PARIS Dec. 24 — France has warned Germany that a new mass "invasion" of Spain by Nazi troops on the side of the insurgents will force her to aid Madrid, responsible reports said today.

Diplomatic sources said this threat to abandon French neutrality unless the reich refrained from intervention was delivered by Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos to Count Johannes von Welczeck, the German ambassador.

France, Delbos, was reported to have proclaimed, can no longer stand for a situation which was developing into a virtual invasion of Spain.

Impeached Executive Denounces Military Leaders as Power Seekers.

By The Associated Press

HAVANA Dec 24 Federico Laredo Bru became Cuba's tenth president within four years today as supporters of Col Fulgencio Batista the republic's strong man forced out President Miguel Mariano Gomez

Gomez who accused the army of working to establish a fascist military dictatorship was removed from office by impeachment on a 22 to 12 vote of the Cuban senate sitting as a jury to hear the impeachment charges after a debate lasting into the early morning hours

Laredo Bru as vice president succeeded automatically when the guilty verdict was brought in against Gomez

Had Been Expected

The climax was precisely what the whole capital expected As a result apathetic crowds accepted the news with an apparent lack of interest

Immediately after the dismissal which Gomez expected and prepared for the retiring president issued a bristling statement denouncing army leaders and charging they sought to arrogate civil authority to themselves

His accusations reflected the

HAYNER QUITS IN AGE PENSION BOARD DISPUTE

Secretary Resigns Charging Existence of 'Intolerable Conditions'

VOICES KIRBY DEFENSE

Assails Methods Used in Removal of Former County Administrator.

An official of the Marion county old age pension board resigned today as an aftermath of nearly a year of controversy over selection of employes in the county pension office

Fred H Hayner secretary of the board tendered his resignation in a letter addressed to Henry J Berrodin chief of the division of aid for the aged in Columbus

Hayner in his letter protested against removal of James L Kirby as county pension administrator and said he has found conditions more intolerable at this time than they were at first with every indication of becoming worse yet'

There were reports that two other members of the five-member board had intended to tender their resignations along with Hayner in protest against the state division's reported attempts to direct the policies of the county board in the selection of employes but a check up of other members indicated no other resignations are expected at the present

Hayner's resignation is the third in this county, two members of the board of Marion county commissioners having resigned as pension board members more than a year ago over differences with the state division in the selection of employes for the pension office The commissioners charged politics had entered into the hiring of county pension employes

Although Hayner did not mention politics in his letter today he complained at length about the removal of Kirby as county pension administrator Kirby had contended political pressure was back of his removal

When asked to amplify his reference to intolerable conditions' Hayner said he referred to the state division's policy of dictating to the county board rather than cooperating with the board The state's interference with the local board and lack of the board's freedom to pursue its own policies in the handling of the office here are the objectionable conditions he said

Other Members' Comments

Two other members of the board when asked for comments this morning about Hayner's resignation expressed the opinion the county board could have handled the matter of employes here without trouble if the problem had been left to the board to take care of in its own way Several members of the board testified at Kirby's hearing before the state civil service commission that representatives of the state division of aid for the aged had insisted the board file ouster charges against Kirby and had threatened to ask for the board's resignation if it did not act against Kirby. They testified the board had not received any complaints of a serious nature about Kirby's work.

In the meantime, the selection of a successor to Kirby, whose removal was upheld by the state civil

Mars Sneers at Christmas Along War Front in Spain

By The Associated Press

MADRID, Dec. 24—Death, blood and nation-wide misery were the Christmas presents forced on Spain today by the grim gods of war.

Religious leaders, including the aged and ill Pope Pius XI in Rome, pleaded for an end to the brother-against-brother slaughter in a land once known for its care-free contentment.

Their pleas were answered by the exhortations of war leaders to kill the enemy and get peace by force.

Peace on earth was not for Madrileños. Their war leaders issued Dec. 24 commands for the troops on the front to fight off any Christian sentimentalism which might cause them to relax efforts to kill off their countrymen insisting on a different form of government.

Fascist insurgents shelled the center of Madrid again and their warplanes bombed the government positions in Romanillos, Las Rozas and Majadahonda, north and south of the Escorial road which is northwest of Madrid.

In Somo Sierra and the Guadalajara regions opposing artillery batteries hammered away at each other all morning.

The government's day before Christmas proclamation was that its men launched a counter-attack and advanced six miles in the Boadilla sector, carrying off a number of rifles, machine guns, and ammunition as their prizes

Foreigners who must stay in Madrid for Christmas sought to make what little holiday spirit they could.

Residents left in the American embassy particularly were busy trying to scare up some ingredients of an old-fashioned American Christmas dinner.

A candy-pull [illegible] the evening.

ANDERSON OUSTED

Heartly "Hunk" Anderson (above), head coach at North Carolina State college at Raleigh and former mentor at Notre Dame, is seeking a new job as a result of his ouster by college authorities following a season in which the Wolf Pack gridders suffered seven defeats out of 10 games. An alumni representative on the N. C. S. athletic council announced he would seek a court test as to legality of the action.

BASEBALL PLAYER IN BOWLING MATCH

Roy Hughes, Indian Second Baseman, Stops Here at Recreation Alleys

Roy Hughes, second baseman of the Cleveland Indians baseball club, participated in a doubles bowling match on the Marion Recreation Center alleys last night. Paired with Lee Schuler, the two collected a total of 956 in the three games, which was 14 points short of the 970 mark rolled up by Harold Monnette and Arthur Wintersteller.

Even though Hughes and Schuler failed to have the top total score they managed to win two of the three games. They took the first 340 to 308, dropped the second 303 to 337 and bounced back to annex the third 347 to 205. Individual scores for the three games were: Hughes 177 131 156; Schuler 163 135 191; Monnette 159 128 113; Wintersteller 179 209 152.

Hughes visited Marion last night enroute to Cincinnati from Cleveland. He and his family were guests last night at the home of Mr and Mrs Arthur Wintersteller and planned to leave early today to spend Christmas in Cincinnati.

FEW CHANGES AMONG COLLEGE COACHES EXPECTED IN 1937

Big Ten Grid Mentors Reported Assured of Jobs for Another Season

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec 24—The wolf howling business has been picking up along the football coaching front in the last couple of weeks but ... considerably below normal.

Although scattered coaching changes are in prospect, most of the schools in the big time groups apparently are going to string along in 1937 with what they have now. Notable among the exceptions are the Southern, Big Six, Southwest and Rocky Mountain conferences, where one or more shifts already are made or in the making.

For the first time in 10 years the Southeastern conference won't make a single change. Out in the Big Ten, too, all is serene despite rumors of possible action at Iowa and Michigan.

Sifting the fact from the rumor, here's the likely lineup of shifts for 1937:

South—Hunk Anderson has been given his walking papers at North Carolina State but a fight is on to see if they stick. Bill Rafferty has ... from V M I with Pooley Hubert taking over. Amos Bole has quit as assistant coach at W & L; reports are heard Greasy Neale, now assistant at Yale, may move south and succeed Gus Tebell at Virginia. Loyola of Louisiana has released Eddie Reed.

Big Six—The Army's marching orders sends Biff Jones from Oklahoma and gives his line coach, Tom Stidham, the job. George Veenker leaves Iowa State and line coach Jimmy Yeager gets his place. There's unrest at Kansas but the chances are Ad Lindsey will stay, and there's talk of the offer for Dana Bible to leave Nebraska's conference champions for Texas but this too is said to be the malarkey.

East—Vic Hanson is definitely out at Syracuse. Dan Jessee, Trinity College coach, may be offered the athletic directorship at Syracuse to succeed Dr ... also out. The howling is heard at Lafayette, where Ernie Nevers made anything but an auspicious debut. Little Clipper Smith is said to be entertaining offers to leave Duquesne for bigger fields and all is not so serene with Howard Harpster at Carnegie Tech.

Southwest—Jack Chevigny already has abdicated at Texas. The Longhorns haven't let on who they'll take if they can't get Bible from Nebraska.

SOPWITH DISCLOSES PLANS TO SEEK CUP

British Sportsman To Bid for International Yacht Race Honors

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec 24—T. O. M. Sopwith, the British sportsman, said today he was "hopeful" of winning the America's yachting cup in the international series next summer.

He arrived with Mrs Sopwith on the Europa last night but insisted the current trip had nothing to do with the forthcoming races.

"We are going to Florida for six weeks of fishing off the Florida coast with friends on the yacht Carolina," he explained.

Afterward he will return to England to superintend preparations for the transatlantic crossing of his cup challenger, the Endeavour II. It will be towed across along with the losing challenger of the last series, the Endeavour, in June. The races will be held in July.

Harold S. Vanderbilt's entry for defense of the cup is now under construction at Bath, Me., and is said to be the largest yacht building job ever attempted in an American yard.

Operation of Hospital Baby Clinic Part of Activity of Women's Board

Work Financed by Annual Dance, 1936 Party Tuesday Night

Funds realized on the annual holiday dance to be sponsored by the Woman's Board of the Marion City Hospital Tuesday night will be used to help finance one of the organization's major projects, the baby clinic at the City hospital.

The dance, which will be held Tuesday night at the Elks club, is being arranged by a committee headed by the president, Mrs. Chester C. [illegible] and Mrs. [illegible] White, general chairman.

Established as one of the first activities of the board, the baby clinic has brought health to approximately 200 babies in the city and advice to scores of mothers since it was opened in November of 1931.

Here it is that the mothers of babies in [illegible] where [illegible] visits [illegible] specialists [illegible] are [illegible] possible learn just what [illegible] their babies are not making proper gains in weight and health [illegible] agrees [illegible] them and [illegible] where the family budget will [illegible] the special foods they [illegible] forthcoming [illegible] cupboard also maintained by the board.

Shown above is a scene in the baby clinic at the City hospital. The clinic was established in November of 1931 and is a major project of the Woman's Board.

Open Every Monday

In addition to financing the clinic, which is open every Monday morning for visits and supplying of foods and medicines from the clinic cupboard, the board, whenever it is ordered by the physician in charge, provides milk to the child in the home.

Through the efforts of the board during the last few months hospitalization was provided for a baby at the City hospital where he received two visits a day from a baby specialist, and finances were provided for a major operation for another child. Another important item in maintaining the clinic is the wardrobe from which mothers unable to provide the necessary clothing for their babies are given layettes and other articles of comfort and necessity.

Getting children started on the right road to health is the object of the clinic and its sponsors. The service is open not only to indigent cases but to all ill and undernourished children of the city under five years of age.

Cases are registered and a chart kept of the progress of the babies and reports are made by the mothers or guardians. The child is returned to the clinic every two weeks for a checkup of its gain and the results of the prescribed feeding or treatment. Some babies make as many as 20 or 30 visits to the clinic before they are pronounced on their own by the attending physician.

Among the records of recent months to which the board and Mrs. Florence Coffman, secretary, points with pride are those of two babies, one of which made a gain of about 10 pounds from April to the first of December and the other chalked up a gain of one pound and two ounces in a period of two weeks. A quart of milk a day for a period of five months of late summer and autumn this year brought health to one little girl in a family of eight where the family budget failed to reach.

Open To All

Any mother may take her baby to the clinic, the physicians are privileged to call on the clinic in many of their cases and the city and county health department find it a great help in getting babies which come under their care started right in feeding formulas and other health regulations.

"There always is room for any baby that needs help along the road to health," is the board's slogan in the work of the baby clinic.

In setting up the clinic the board purchased scales and other equipment needed and provided funds sufficient to supply proper foods for sick and undernourished babies.

In 1932 special canned vegetables, milk, cereals and other foods were added to the list of things provided. That same year 1[illegible]7 babies were registered and visits made to the clinic by mothers or guardians totalled 1918. In 1933 an average of 65 babies were cared for each week. To date this year approximately 35 babies have been registered and visits have numbered approximately 100.

Former Civil War Spy Is Still Busy on Ohio Farm

By EDGAR LYONS
[illegible] Illustrated News Writer

[illegible] O — William [illegible] the Union army [illegible] 96th birthday on [illegible] Pe[illegible]ing on a farm [illegible] near Smithville [illegible] health and expects to live to see the next president elected.

During the summer months he raises vegetables in a good sized garden and in the winter he contents himself with performing odd jobs about the farm. One daughter, one son and 20 grandchildren are expected to attend his birthday celebration.

Born in Pittsburgh on Jan [illegible] 1841 he enlisted in the Union secret service department during September 1861 and in November was assigned to seek and break up a gang of [illegible] who had conspired to murder President Lincoln. A month later he was successful.

Arrested as Spy

Returning to Washington, Hovis was sent south to gather what information he could relative to the movement of the rebels. After two months with General Grant he was again recalled to Washington and sent to Memphis. Following this he was assigned to Richmond with another spy—a Patrick O'Mallory, commonly called the "Wild Irishman" by cow[illegible].

They were hardly there 4 hours when they were recognized by southern spies. Arrested they were taken before the provost marshal of Richmond who committed them to jail. A month later both were found guilty of being spies and were [illegible] to be hanged.

Several weeks before the date of their execution O'Mallory was summoned by the [illegible] court and was promised a pardon provided he would confess to being a spy. There was some doubt as to his guilt. He accepted the offer and was released from jail. He however remained in prison and never saw his friend until the night before the date of his execution.

Wins Confidence

O'Mallory was inducted into the southern secret service but was not permitted to leave the city. He quickly won the confidence of his superiors. In the interim Hovis was transferred to a small brick building on the outskirts of the city to await his execution.

He was to be hanged at 7 a. m. Between 1 and 2 o'clock O'Mallory visited the prison and within a short time had sufficient bricks removed from the old building to permit his friend to gain his freedom. On another occasion Hovis escaped from being shot by rebels through the timely arrival of Union soldiers.

He was with Gen. Grant when Gen. Lee surrendered. Returning to Pittsburgh he later obtained a job in the oil fields near Emlenton, Pa., and Oil City.

Wings For Sally

By BAILEY WOLFE

[illegible] Bailey W[illegible]

SYNOPSIS: Philip Page, young publisher of the Warrenton Courier, loves Sally Warren, the city editor. Wealthy Mary Morris pursues Philip despite his campaign against her property, causing father to [illegible] conditions. Giles Benton, a detective engaged by Morris, accuses Neil [illegible], a discharged mill [illegible] of firing the theater. He is tried for arson. Philip and Sally, believing McDonald innocent, fight to save him. Sally pleads futilely with old Mr Morris to halt the prosecution. Before leaving she overhears Benton admit that McDonald was framed.

CHAPTER FORTY

Kidnaped.

SALLY heard a chair scrape the floor. She pressed herself tightly against the wall. The study was silent. Giles Benton and Mrs Picard must be on their way out. Sally edged closer to the window and peered in. Mr Morris was alone, hunched in his big chair. He breathed heavily and his face was flushed.

Sally was in a panic. She did not know what to do. If Mr Morris paid Giles Benton what he had asked, Giles and Mrs Picard would go away and with them all the proof of McDonald's innocence.

Although [illegible] had [illegible] their conversation [illegible] would she prove that she had heard? If only there were time to reach Philip Page before Giles Benton and Mrs Picard left. The one thing she saw clearly was that she must not let Giles Benton get away.

The man and the woman were leaving the house now. She could see Benton's roadster parked in the driveway. There was no one else about. Why not go to the car, tell Giles Benton she had heard the truth and demand that he see Philip and her father at once? Sally sped across the grass toward the car before she should lose her courage. Mrs Picard and Giles Benton were beside the car talking together in low tones. Sally approached them noiselessly, the grass smothering her footsteps.

"Mr Benton," said Sally timidly.

"Miss Warren!" Giles Benton was startled. It gave Sally courage to see the man lose his composure.

"Mr Benton, I overheard what you were saying to Mr Morris in the study a few minutes ago."

"You—what?" Giles Benton stared at her.

"I know from what you said to Mr Morris just now that McDonald is not guilty," said Sally calmly. "I came to ask you to go with me to Mr Page and tell him the truth."

"You must be mistaken, Miss Warren," said Giles Benton. He looked at Mrs Picard. "How could you have—overheard, as you say?"

"I was outside on the veranda listening," said Sally shamelessly. "I heard you tell Mr Morris that McDonald could take the rap—"

"Suppose we get in the car, Miss Warren," said Giles quickly. "We'll go somewhere we can talk about this with some privacy."

"Why not go to my office?" suggested Sally. "Mr Page may be there now."

"A good idea," said Giles. "Mr Page is the very man to discuss this matter with."

A Wild Ride

Sally was exultant. It had been so easy to bring Giles to reason. In another hour perhaps everything would be settled and McDonald would be free to go home to his sick wife. How proud Philip Page would be to find that she had solved the whole thing herself.

Giles Benton opened the door of the roadster and Sally climbed in. Mrs Picard got in beside her. Although the single seat of the car was fairly large, when Giles Ben[illegible]

[illegible] was [illegible] found he [illegible] Mrs [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] I have to ask you [illegible] [illegible] always [illegible] Mrs Warren" [illegible] Sally [illegible] [illegible] want to give [illegible] when [illegible] in the middle of [illegible] of her [illegible] to the [illegible] they were taking [illegible]

As the roadster struck an uneven surface Giles Benton stepped on the accelerator

even surface and at the same time Giles Benton stepped on the accelerator so that the machine jerked violently and then [illegible] ahead, bumping Sally violently against Mrs Picard. The woman caught and held to Sally's arm as if to steady herself. She tried to sit up and straighten her hat. The car continued to bump along the road and a cloud of dust rose around them.

"Haven't you taken the wrong turn?" asked Sally, peering into the darkness.

"No indeed," said Giles Benton. "Don't worry, Miss Warren. I know the road quite well."

By [illegible] Sally thought she too knew the road. "We're on the way to Hillcrest, aren't we?" she asked quietly.

"Right," said Giles. "I've decided we can talk things over more comfortably [illegible] place. I'd rather talk to you first without Mr Page."

"Let Me Out"

Sally thought she knew why. He might hope to buy her off. He knew that he could not hush the matter once Philip Page knew the truth. But she was angry at the high handed way Giles Benton had started for Hillcrest without asking her permission.

She glanced at the speedometer. The car was making an even 60 miles an hour and it seemed more on the unpaved road. Thus far they had passed no one. It was about nine o'clock, Sally guessed.

Suddenly she remembered that no one knew where she was. No one saw her go to the office. No one would think of calling the Morris house to ask [illegible] she had said [illegible] getting [illegible] [illegible] call the Morris [illegible] he [illegible] had [illegible] here al[illegible] walk[illegible]

"Stop [illegible] Where are you taking [illegible]"

"Be quiet, Miss Warren," said Giles Benton. "[illegible] We are [illegible] Hillcrest [illegible] to another place [illegible] where we can be a[illegible]"

"I demand [illegible] let me out," said Sally. "[illegible] You can't take me away [illegible] against my will."

[illegible] the car [illegible] own [illegible] the man [illegible] simply [illegible] a different place than he [illegible] suggested. "Here we [illegible] have our little talk—in peace."

The car came to a [illegible] in a little clearing. Evidently Mrs Picard knew the place for she did not wait for Giles to open the door but got out at once. Sally followed her with alacrity. She saw in front of them a small lodge built of logs. There were no curtains at the windows and [illegible] shining through. A [illegible] curve [illegible] around the corner of the house.

Sally drew a [illegible] of relief. Perhaps [illegible] some little [illegible] At any rate there [illegible] people here and there might be a ph[illegible]

A MERRY CHRISTMAS.

THE FINE SPIRIT of Christmas spirit which causes people to remember the unfortunate at this time was generally in evidence in Marion this year. As a result there are few if any children in Marion who will be shrouded in gloom while the more fortunate residents of the city were thinking only of their own comfort and pleasure.

Probably never in the city's history have there been more individuals and organizations aiding in the spread of Yule cheer to those who need it most. Demonstrations of generosity and good will have been so general that praise is due Marion as a whole, for all this obviously is a definite and unmistakable expression of the community.

So let's pass out orchids to all who have participated in this most important phase of the city's Christmas observance. Going through the list we might start with the floral tributes as follows:

To the various organizations represented in the annual community Christmas party for children of needy families. This is one of the most notable good neighbor movements ever inaugurated in Marion and its success has resulted from able conscientious leadership backed by fine public cooperation.

To members of the Phalanx club and others who have been assisting them in making new toys out of old for use as gifts at the community Christmas party. That organization of boys and young men has been performing this service for five years and doing it exceptionally well. Persons who question the standards and ideals of modern young people have their incontrovertible answer in the record of the Phalanx club.

To the Salvation Army which has been performing Christmas service for the stricken and destitute many years and which continued the work with its usual thoroughness and efficiency this year.

To Mayor Smith for paying the cost of a Christmas dinner for more than 600 children from families of inadequate means. The mayor thus demonstrates in an admirable way that he was not uttering meaningless words when he announced at the beginning of his administration that he would spend his salary for the public welfare.

To John Abel, Marion county's director of relief, whose foresight and interest in the hundreds of needy families with which he has personal contact led him to make Christmas preparations for them. Knowing that arrival of the Yuletide would find many without money or provisions he began several months ago to set aside as much as he could squeeze out of the monthly relief fund to make sure Christmas would not be just another day of privation for these people. Although it was a difficult process, for the county's relief fund grants have been at a minimum, he was able to cut the corners sufficiently to accumulate approximately $1,500 for special Christmas contributions to all families on his list.

Others might be added to this list and would be if space were available. These are mentioned merely as examples of what was done throughout the city in fulfillment of the real meaning and purpose of Christmas.

Taken as a whole, all the numerous acts of benevolence give Marion the best of reasons and the right to say with all sincerity:

A Merry Christmas.

Declarations of War

Declarations of war are out of date.

Japan carried through a large-scale military operation against China in Manchuria without declaring war. If certain spirited young Chinese succeed in making the republic declare war against Japan at this late date, it will be the first formal hostility, though thousands have been killed and hundreds of million dollars worth of property has changed hands.

Italy did not declare war against Ethiopia when it began its conquest of Emperor Haile Selassie's ragged army. It merely moved in thousands of soldiers, mechanics and laborers, took control peaceably where no resistance was offered, aggressively in other cases, and did the whole business without at any time being formally at war.

It is beginning to appear as a possibility now that the civil conflict in Spain may grow into a real international conflict without any actual declaration of war. Already soldiers of many nationalities are fighting with both camps of the Spaniards. It is not inconceivable that the struggle for supremacy between communism and fascism eventually may involve large numbers of Germans, Italians, Russians, Frenchmen and many others actually engaged in a world war which would not be in a formal sense a war at all but only a private fight in Spain.

Pope Pius.

The serious illness of Pope Pius—an illness which Pius clearly realizes may be his last—lends to the Christmas season a reminder of its frequently forgotten religious significance.

According to the most reliable list, Pope Pius is the 261st man to bear the title of the supreme head of the Catholic church. His reign has been a long one; he has been a strong influence in the world.

The prayers for his recovery, the admiration which is inspired by his courageous battle for life and his calm acceptance of the possibility of failure give Christmas a depth of significance which sometimes has been obscured by the worldly customs surrounding this great Christian holiday.

Since 1914

The death of Frau Elsa Einstein, wife of the internationally known physicist and mathematician, received only scant attention in the press which has printed so much about her famous husband.

This is as the Einsteins wished it to be. Both of them have been jealous of their privacy. Yet in the character of Frau Einstein there is perhaps a story far more interesting in its way than the one of Prof Einstein's accomplishments.

Since 1914, the year of their marriage, Frau Einstein's single purpose has been the care of her husband. He is like a child, she said once. You have to manage him. But I must never let him know that I manage him. I must not let him catch me or—

She gave up her outside interests because she found that being the wife of a genius was a full-time job. She contrived to arrange for his exercise, recreation and food, all of which he would have neglected if left to himself. She was intensely proud of her position as the wife of a great scientist.

There is no moral to the story. But there is a most tender [illegible] to the moral of a [illegible] faithfully and quietly performed through years of triumph and despair.

A Vacation from Animosities

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1936 by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, Dec 24 — In a large room at the banquet board—the party in power, the party out of power, the successful candidates at the last election, the unsuccessful ones, the representatives of labor, the President of the United States, the chief justice of the United States, the speaker of the house and the vice president, in fact the government of the United States sat down to dinner with the press of Washington.

It was one of those famous affairs of the Gridiron club of which there have been two a year since 1885 in which men and events have been satirized. Impressions of such an event are limited in comment because the Gridiron club has a rule that what is said by the speakers cannot be quoted afterwards, a rule introduced so that men in public life will speak freely and frankly.

But it is permissible to discuss Gridiron club dinners in the [illegible] no American who sat down at the dinner—and of course there were representatives of nearly every foreign government too—but must have felt a thrill of pride arising out of the fact that while the press has been shackled in many countries it remains free in America.

Evidence of Sportsmanship

The theme of the occasion however was not difficult to establish [illegible] the fairer and more significant. It was the feeling that in American sportsmanship in politics is as deeply rooted as in the contests of the athletic field. Gov Landon was there and so was Chairman Hamilton. Not far away were seated President Roosevelt and Chairman Jim Farley.

Within a few seats from John D Rockefeller Jr sat William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and at the same long guest table was John L Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

Throughout the occasion ran the note of get-together, of comradeship, of a common interest in the rightful solution of current problems.

The sketches acted by members of the Gridiron club were pointed. No one could say they were slanted in one direction more than another. Both sides, all factions came in for good natured satire. The fact that the action of the playlets took place before the President of the United States made them to be sure more realistic than when read in the authorized reports given out in advance to the press.

Pastime of Long Standing

On the whole the idea of kidding the big fellows in government has been going on for many years as a pastime of the press. But the speakers have upon occasion turned the tables on the press with some well directed shafts at the weaknesses if not the inaccuracies of the press itself.

Something constructive can be derived from the Gridiron dinners. Long after the last gag has passed, the memory of a trend here or there remains. Officials [illegible] remember that maybe there was after all a real point in an innocently [illegible] or parody on a passing event or [illegible]

[illegible] Gridiron dinner this week seem[illegible] illustrative of the mood [illegible] through which we are passing [illegible] a serious appreciation of the [illegible] problems that face government [illegible]. It was not that these problems [illegible] treated lightly. Far from it [illegible] were treated with that sensible [illegible] which makes the victims of a [illegible] aware that the strongest force in America is the force of a discerning public [illegible]

What the occasion did emphasize was the constant poise of our people. There may be [illegible] ahead, there may be unsolvable problems on the agenda, but the reward for their solution lies in the esteem of such groups as are gathered in this strictly American type of dinner.

Beneath the cloaks of partisanship and of ambition are hearts that know and have faith in American purposes and American ways of achieving the true aims of democracy. With so much of the world making a mockery of free institutions, leaders in American public life and American thought, in American commerce and American labor sat down to see themselves mirrored with a truth that was unmistakable. They saw democracy checking itself. They saw democracy appraising itself. In fact they saw democracy guiding itself after the fashion of the lines of the Scotch poet, Burns, who wrote:

Oh wad some power the giftie gie us
To see oursels as others see us
It wad frae monie a blunder free us,
And foolish notion.

Seals Cut "White Plague" Toll

BY MAURICE MERRYFIELD
International Illustrated News Writer

NEW YORK, Dec 24—Back of the current sale of Christmas seals conducted each year during the holiday period lies an amazing story of one of the most successful health crusades in history.

Since the idea was launched 29 years ago more than $83,000,000 has been raised to finance the fight against tuberculosis in United States.

The effectiveness of the crusade made possible by those millions is illustrated by health records which show that the annual tuberculosis death rate has dropped from 179 per 100,000 in 1907 to only 54 today.

Actually it was in Denmark in 1903 that the idea of the Christmas seal was born. A Danish postal clerk conceived the plan of selling non-postage stickers as symbols of good cheer, the money to be devoted to building a sanatorium for tubercular children. Four years later the idea was introduced in United States through an article in the magazine Outlook.

First Seal Sale in 1907

To Emily Bissell, an active worker in the Red Cross chapter at Wilmington, Del, goes credit for actively launching the scheme. It was she who staged the first Christmas seal sale, advancing her own money to pay the printing bill. Through the co-operation of the Philadelphia North American, the idea was publicized and such interest aroused that the initial campaign yielded more than $3,000 which went to the support of an open air camp for tuberculars near Wilmington.

In 1908 the Red Cross sponsored the sale on a national scale and more than $135,000 was raised. The success of the project and the extent of the program resulted in organization of the National Tuberculosis association which now handles all details of the Christmas seal sale and the health activities it finances.

1,000 Clinics Established

Today an army of nurses and physicians are enlisted in the battle against the white plague. The number of tuberculosis clinics has grown from a mere score in 1907 to more than 1,000 today. There are now in existence more than 1,200 institutions devoted to discovery and check of the disease in juvenile cases.

An effective tuberculin test has been perfected and used in more than a million cases, enabling health authorities to detect and treat the disease at an early stage. Experimentation is also under way in an effort to devise a serum which will be effective.

The importance of this work is evident in view of the fact that tuberculosis still accounts for [illegible]0,000 deaths in United States annually and leads all other causes of mortality in the age group ranging between 15 and 40.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Dec 24, 1926.

Two men were captured shortly after midnight as suspects in the burglary of an oil company station on Silver street. They were trapped as a result of having attempted to make their getaway in a dead-end street.

It was announced that Dr F A Stengel would present a series of displays from his extensive collection of curios and Indian relics at the Harding High school each week.

Arrangements were completed for a rearrangement of the city's wards. Council had decided this was necessary because of growth of the city's population since the original ward alignment was adopted.

Pat McDermont was found guilty of first degree murder in the slaying of Don Mellett, crusading Canton, O, editor. The jury recommended mercy.

Faith in Santa Claus Grows

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Dec 24—A definite revival of faith in Santa Claus is noticeable among the new deal officials this Christmas. Most of them are going to get something, although not all.

For example, there is Interior Secretary Ickes. He has been writing letters to Mr Claus in the form of daily publicity handouts stretching pages in length, trying to promote a bigger and better PWA for himself. He has written no letters asking for rural resettlement, but he has been pining for at least half of it and reaching for it.

Mr Ickes is not going to get what he wants but it appears that Claus has other plans for him. The PWA is being whittled down by circumstances and Agriculture Secretary Wallace already has grabbed the best of rural resettlement. But direct information from the workshop of the old man with the long white beard indicates the interior secretary is to get control of slum clearance contemplated in the Wagner bill to be passed early in the new year.

Gloom

The federal housing administration is not going to fare as well as Mr Ickes and the others apparently. The equivalent of a bundle of switches is likely to be its lot, if not at Christmas then shortly after the new year.

Those who give and take away within the new deal are said to have decided definitely to discontinue Federal Housing Administrator McDonald's Title One authorizing him to make those small loans for home refinishing. Title Two will be continued on the present unexciting basis.

There is just a bare probability that Mr Fahey's HOLC will be turned over to Mr McDonald for liquidation. That matter has not been decided.

Agriculture Secretary Wallace made away with the rural settlement by getting some of his men on S Claus board of directors. He would probably have received the bureau anyway, but it is noteworthy then when the co-ordinating committee was appointed to divide what Prof Tugwell left behind, Mr Wallace was well represented. The chairman of the committee was M L Wilson, assistant secretary of agriculture. Another member was Milo Perkins who was one of Wallace's secretaries until he was appointed head of the rural rehabilitation division of resettlement.

Peace Making

As this is a season of peace and good will President Roosevelt's arrangers are trying to arrange for a little of both in the scramble for the house leadership.

Definite negotiations have been undertaken backstage to prevent an open fight in the caucus election. What the peacemakers hope to do is to satisfy Representative John O'Connor on the side and elect Representative Sam Rayburn to the leadership unanimously. A few Yuletide political gifts may be dropped into Mr O'Connor's ample sock. Whether he will withdraw is yet questionable. His friends believe he can win and as long as they continue to think so there will be no peace.

There is no question about Mr Roosevelt's sincerity in announcing that he was taking no part in the fight. Yet most of his White House associates are working ardently for Rayburn. Impartial insiders also know that before the President left for South America, he authorized a certain compromise plan for Rayburn's election as speaker (not leader). It did not work and has been discarded, but it indicated how the President stood before the fight became warm.

Politics is always a complicated business but it will rarely get more complicated than the situation involving choice of a successor to Senator Norbeck of South Dakota. The senator died at the wrong time. The inside on the situation is this:

If Norbeck had died two weeks later a Republican governor could have appointed his successor. If he had died two days earlier or one day later Democratic Gov Tom Berry could have arranged the appointment of himself to the vacancy.

But two days before the death, Lieut Gov Peterson was arrested on charges involving his bank at Centerville. Therefore he cannot be appointed to the governorship by Berry in order to appoint Berry to the senate. Peterson declined to resign and permit someone else to appoint Berry, which left the matter in about as bad a tangle as was possible.

To Stock Exchange Brokers

Here is what you are going to get from Santa through the Securities and Exchange Commission early next year:

1—Floor traders doing an 'in and out' day business must margin to cover on maximum commitments.

2—Commission houses carrying business on margin should not trade on margin themselves—their trading if any must be for cash.

3—Specialists should not manipulate their books in such a manner as to effect a new high or a new low for the day.

4—The question of segregation of brokers and dealers to be reserved for future consideration.

Merry Christmas.

Saltus Books in Revival

BY O O McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec 24—The late Edgar Saltus, who wrote so little but so extraordinarily well, threatens to become a vogue. Sales of his books are in sudden revival. He was last known of the literati eccentrics, an embodiment of a transition period. A top-hatted litterateur who wrote for a select coterie.

Saltus died literally in harness—toppling over at his desk when putting the finishing touches on Scaffolds and Altars. He was along with Carl Van Vechten an ardent lover of cats. No matter how elegantly surtouted he would go out of his way to salvage an alley specimen and carry it home.

He has a basement vowing with straws picked up on way from opera or banquet. An idiosyncrasy too was the disordliness of his desk. He flew into a fury if a maid or any one in the household even dusted it. Pin neat in every way, his desk was a pile of debris.

He was among the last of the charming conversationalists. Complimented on promptness for dinner date with an actress he observed: Punctuality is the thief of time. Introduced the second time to a lady he murmured: I remember your name but not your face." And he declared that those who called a spade a spade should be using one.

The servant problem for four years so easily solved has become gnarly again. So much so it is driving many to highly regimented hotels where service is a zing-the-button gesture. Of a sudden has come a striking change in the attitude of domestics. All demand specialization. They will not do general work. Just one thing—thus a household for two servants may require a half dozen. Many suspect the subtle working of a communistic idealism. Anyway it has closed many prompous mansions, kept people at country estates or forced them to hotels.

Those who now say no one in the modern scene has retained the bloom of youth so enchantingly as the former Corrine Griffith, now bride of the sportsman George Marshall. Miss Griffith, before her most recent marriage, had adopted two children. And why she adopted two is a story in itself. When she went to an institution for a selection two caught her eye. So much so she could not decide between them. She was permitted to take both home a few days. At the end of the third day she could not relinquish either.

Tallulah Bankhead as the No 1 Glamour Girl got away to a flying start this season. And along came Gertrude Lawrence tooting over from London to muck things up. The gawking crowds that stood sheep-like in the wind and the rain to watch Tallu exit turned to the theatre where Miss Lawrence was splitting honors with Noel Coward. Bankhead's performance is often superficial but it is always flaming. She knows how to whip over a line as few players of her time and not many make a more enchanting picture in romantic niches. But for many somehow she continues to miss by perhaps just an eyelash true histrionic greatness. And with the odious comparison Miss Lawrence has become just about the finest actress of her day.

YOUNG FOLKS FROLICKED
—Like these at Texas' exposition

OLDER FOLKS SAID "AMEN"
—At Townsend's Cleveland rally

By VOLTA TORREY
Associated Press Feature Service Writer

JULY started out gaintily. Fathers hitched new trailers on family cars. Steamships were booked to capacity. Hotel men welcomed back folks they hadn't seen for years. Resort orchestras played "Take My Heart."

It was like old times to read the papers.

New York City's fire commissioner was burned by a fire cracker.

The League of Nations fretted about a Danzig crisis.

The Pope called for a drive against film immorality.

Texas and Cleveland were having expositions.

Roosevelt was planning a cruise. Landon riding a horse.

Corn Tops on Stalks

Sweating midwestern optimists still kidded visitors "You don't like our weather? well we'll change it for you in a minute."

This time it went the wrong way. Some North Dakota thermometers for instance rose to 1.0 degrees.

New editors adding up the heat wave fatalities by July 11 were startled as the total reached 700; three days later it was 2,8...

Corn popped on the stalks. Green fields turned brown, then black, in a way that would have been incredible had 1934 not shown what could happen.

Broker Threatens Departure

Figures poured into Washington that were to show the drouth was not so bad as 1934's but in some respects the next worst. From the hot prairie came the Kansas Coolidge's voice to millions who never had lent him an ear before "The time has come to stop fumbling with recovery."

A broker threatening to leave the country advertised his North Carolina quail farm for sale if Roosevelt were reelected.

Grandpa and grandma in mid July trekked to Cleveland—where uneasy taxpayers had rallied to the budget balancer in June to say amen to Dr Townsend's $200-a-month pension plan.

Rev Gerald Smith loudly proclaimed that the lunatic fringe was about to take over America.

Father Coughlin called Franklin D Roosevelt liar. (He later apologized.)

Third Party Candidate Lemke promised to make every man a king and every woman a queen.

Tokyo Practices War

A loaded gun from a little man's hand slithered (his word for it) onto the paving of London's Constitution Hill amid horses' clattering hooves. "The damn fool," said King Edward VIII.

Ruth Bryan Owen and Captain Boerge Rohde of Denmark were married. Eleanor Holm Jarrett was put off the Olympic team owing to drinking. A former American naval officer was jailed on charges of betraying secrets to Japan.

Diplomatic relations with a certain country have been severed.

SWIMMER OUT OF WATER
Eleanor Holm Jarrett at Olympics

FARM WATERHOLE 1936
Was it ever gonna rain anymore?

Tokyo heard. Out went lights, bang went ... The main force of an enemy fleet is approaching. For four days all Japan rehearsed the war.

Rebellion Blazes in Spain

Haile Selassie had pleaded his lost cause at Geneva, Italian journalists hissing him, had been ousted.

Lindbergh gave a toast in Germany:

"To bombers, may they fly slower.

"To pursuit planes, may they fly swifter."

In Spanish Morocco after many preliminary flares but no formal upheaval, rebellion blazed forth. Workers and peasants sprang to arms to defend the leftist regime but soon headlines were saying:

"Two Rebel Armies Converging on Madrid. U S Sends Two Warships to Protect Citizens."

Santa and the Viking

BY SIGRID ARNE

THE STORY SO FAR—Santa has made a special doll for the Ice Queen so that she will permit Nils, the Viking, to take his little daughter, Gudrun, home. The fairy queen has helped Santa.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN
The Queen Gets Her Doll

THERE was the Ice Queen standing over the toy shop again still angry because Santa had helped to rescue Nils' daughter Gudrun, from her palace.

"Whistle a tune," whispered the fairy queen into Santa's ear. "Then open the door slowly."

"But if I do, the Ice Queen will storm right in here," protested Santa.

"Not if you do as I say," said the fairy queen.

So Santa whistled a little dance melody, and slowly opened the door. Then he guessed the fairy queen's plan. His big, new doll began to twirl on her toes. She danced right out the door and into the swirling snow outside.

She Scoops Up the Doll

Through the toy shop windows Santa and all of toyland watched what happened. The elves snuffed out the candles so the Ice Queen couldn't see them, and then everyone pressed his nose to a window and looked.

"Why, the doll doesn't mind the cold at all," said Mrs. Santa at her window.

"Look, the Ice Queen has seen her," whispered Santa. "Look, she's swooping down."

Sure enough, the Ice Queen flew right down out of the sky, scooped the dancing doll into her arms, and flew away across the sky.

"Ha, ha, hee ho, ho," chuckled Santa as the fairy queen flew around the shop lighting the candles again.

"Hurrah," shouted Santa. "Now let's hurry to get all my toys ready. Today is Christmas Eve, and I'm leaving tonight."

Santa whistled...and slowly opened the door....

"And Gudrun and I?" asked Nils.

"To be sure," said Santa. "My elves will chop a channel in the ice for your ship and the North Wind will blow you home to Norway again."

Santa Starts Out

By sunset all the toys were finished, Santa's bags were packed, and his reindeers were standing impatiently outside, waiting to be off. Nils and Gudrun sailed away through the sunset, each with gifts from toyland. And after they were gone Santa had just time enough for a last, peaceful smoke before the moon came up the sky.

"Merry Christmas," shouted the moon.

"Same to you," shouted Santa, hurrying into his big red coat. He climbed into his sleigh, took hold of the reins and shouted, "Merry Christmas to everyone." In a twinkling he was riding through the sky, just as he will tonight, coming to give us gifts. MERRY CHRISTMAS.

TWO MARION MEN BEGIN SENTENCES

Floyd Sauers Taken to Reformatory and Jack Shuster to Workhouse.

Floyd Sauers, 26 of Senate street, sentenced by Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young Monday for violation of his probation, was taken to the Mansfield reformatory yesterday by sheriff's deputies to begin a term of from five to 30 years. Sauers was on probation since last July when he turned state's evidence in connection with several burglaries here. Last week he pleaded guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 14-year-old Marion girl, who told a story to police implicating Sauers and another man.

Jack Shuster, 20, of Fountain street, involved with Sauers and the girl, was taken to Columbus Tuesday to begin a year's sentence in the workhouse. He was sentenced Monday by Juvenile Judge Oscar Gast who said the year term was the maximum for first offenders.

Sauers pleaded guilty last July to a charge of breaking and entering and testified against two companions, Arthur Hall and George Beeham. Hall was sentenced to from five to 25 years in the penitentiary and Beeham to six months in county jail.

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Asks Lillian to Help Her Decide Whether to Go With Katherine.

"WHAT DO you mean?" Lillian queried a bit belligerently, "by saying that your decision to go with Katherine rests with me?"

"Because," I answered with equal resolution in my tones, "with my father's work depending upon me in a sense I could not decide to leave home, even for a day or two, upon my own responsibility. But you know even more than I about this affair of his, and you can tell me whether it will be safe for me to get away at this time."

"Tell Katherine you'll call her back in 10 minutes," she directed. "It will take all of that to think this out."

I turned to the telephone and spoke into it.

"Katherine, dear!"

"I'm right here," she quavered. "What did she say?"

"She hasn't said, yet," I told her. "She wants me to call you back in 10 minutes. Then I can give you her decision."

She was silent for the fraction of a second, and then she spoke my name in stony desperation, no quavering note now.

"Madge!"

Will Go Herself

"Yes, dear girl!" I put into my voice the infinite pity and tenderness which my heart held for her. She had skirted the danger line of hysteria, I knew by her voice, and had set her face stubbornly toward a certain goal. She was in need now of all the sympathy one could give her.

"You know, don't you, that even if you don't go with me, I shall have to go myself?"

"Yes, Katherine; I know that."

"Even though I must leave your children with Nell?"

"Don't give that angle of it another thought," I said. "Mrs. [illegible] told me that she would give her whole attention to the children, and I know she will keep her word. Under those circumstances they could not be in safer hands, except yours."

"Much safer than mine just now, Madge," she said dreamily, and I knew that she spoke the truth. She was in no condition for work or responsibility of any kind.

"There is something else which you must know—why I do not wish to go alone to see Hal; why, out of all the world, I want you to go with me. It isn't because I need your love and sympathy, much as I prize them. Do you know why you must go with me, if you can?"

"Yes, I know why," I told her, and whispered the rest of the sentence into the telephone.

"Because of Jack."

She Hangs Up

"I knew you'd understand," she answered. "Now I'll hang up and wait for your call."

I heard the click of the receiver and hung up my own, taking it down the next second and signaling the operator, who had told me that she would collect for the call when I had finished.

The business of dropping coins finished, I turned to Lillian.

"Now!" I said, "let's talk this over."

She surveyed the drug store with a practical eye.

"Over there, at the table in the corner," she said in a low voice. "We can be sure no one hears us there."

She turned to the soda clerk.

"Please bring us two egg phosphates, with cracked ice, and two ham sandwiches," she said. "Bring them as quickly as you can. We have but a few minutes. And afterward ask the gentleman in the car outside what he wishes."

"I couldn't—I began.

"Oh, yes, you can," she said. "I'd make you eat much more than this if you weren't so upset. But you're going to need all the nourishment you can get before you see a bed tonight. This is only the beginning."

—• The •— Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND

IF YOUTH BUT KNEW!

If youth but knew, these magic, exciting hours of uncertainty and expectation "just before" are the best and sweetest part of Christmas. Just as the best part of life is before we know too much about it.

If youth but knew—most women do nearly all their real "living" after 30!

It is then that we know how to play the game according to Hoyle and to take our winnings without crowing and our losses without whimpering. It is then that we love, sing, write, work or play our best. Up to 30 we are mere tyros—apprentices at the art of living. We are merely expecting, hoping and guessing. Buy why rush "life's Christmas Eve"?

Nowadays, so many girls of the debutante age seem awfully bored and sophisticated. To them life is so real, so material, so prosaic! Men are just something to dance with, to run around with, to "catch", to marry: "boy friends", "old dears", or "good spenders".

So few young women have stardust in their eyes; they're not looking for the glamor in life. It's got to be something with a "kick" in it. Love is just petting—or applesauce. A kiss is—just a kiss! Romance is just "the bunk."

The average young girl of today wants to know everything—right at the start. She wants to squeeze all the juice out of the fruit before it is ripe—to read the last chapter first! She is like a trunk that has never been farther than the next station, but which has been pasted all over with foreign labels. So sophisticated! But only in appearance.

If youth but knew—it's not knowing all about life that makes it worth living. It's not knowing what surprise awaits you, just around the corner, that gives it its tang and zest, and helps to turn the journey through this vale of tears from a dull duty into a gay adventure,

It's not knowing what kind of "hand" Fate may deal you, that constitutes the essence of living which keeps you in the game—and fully awake! It's not knowing who is at the other end of the wire, that makes the sound of the telephone bell thrill you. And not knowing where a road may lead that makes you want to follow.

To all of us, life is—or ought to be—a Great Adventure!; a beautiful, exciting game of chance. Sophistication is the stuff that tarnishes the stars and the sunsets.

*The whole joy of Living is to be able to look forward to all our to*morrows with that thrilling feeling that something new, unexpected and wonderful may happen to us at any moment.

Those people who seem to stay young forever are the ones who have managed to keep life always one long "Christmas Eve"!

Caps Long Career

The sale [illegible] Staley's fare [illegible] of his victory to [illegible] first [illegible] of [illegible]

[illegible] Columbus [illegible] a brilliant record for 1936. When Staley added up his 1936 performances with Peter Dear he discovered [illegible] in 33 heats [illegible] won first place in 11 of them. He showed [illegible] and [illegible] more invariably finished in the money and won purses totaling $1,077.87. His [illegible] included appearances at Marysville, [illegible] City, Richwood, [illegible], Columbus, Sidney, Bellefontaine, Powell and [illegible].

Staley's accomplishments [illegible] made more unusual by the fact that Peter Dear cost him and his co-owner probably less than $100 according to the terms of a trade in which a pacer was traded to Peter Dear's former owner, a Marietta man. The previous owner did not regard the horse as having unusual ability. Besides there was a little catch in his stride at that time but this disappeared after Staley worked and trained him awhile.

Staley has high hopes for Peter Dear in 1937 and plans to keep the horse busy during the racing season.

Spins Yarns of Experiences

The veteran can spin yarns by the hour about his experiences in 45 years of work with horses but his favorite involves Peter Walnut, a trotter he owned in 1932.

Some horse men probably would think it was awful but I planted corn with that horse in 1932. Times were hard and I had taken an awful licking in the depression. Well sir it came tax paying time and I just didn't have the ready cash to pay taxes.

Something had to be done so I took Peter Walnut back into the field here and worked him out on a third-mile track I sometimes used in training. I took him to Richwood to the races and although he didn't win he made enough money to pay the taxes. He won the third heat in 2:10¼.

Staley is a race man but primarily he is a dealer. He always has dealt in livestock and his love for dealing has resulted in a frequent turnover in his racing stock. He seldom owned more than one race horse at a time and trained and raced horses only for himself. He never trained or drove another person's horse except under the joint ownership arrangement he now has with Haines.

Mary Mark His First

He started out with Mary Mark, a colt, 45 years ago driving her into the money on the old Richwood fairgrounds, the first race he ever drove. He owned Mary Mark and later Midgie B for only short periods but his next horse Frisco the Great won his favor and he drove him for nearly seven years. Then came Bessie Storm for a two-year period, Maggie Mackan for six years, Queen Worthy for a short time, Peter Walnut for three years. Then for a time he swore off racing but a friend gave him a bad-legged horse as a gift and Staley couldn't resist the temptation to work the animal. The horse was John Azoff and Staley won with him at Marion.

There were other horses from time to time in the Staley farm stable but these are the ones with which the veteran had the most success.

Harness racing is an expensive sport but Staley asserts his racing never cost me a penny. With his winnings and the sale price of his horses considered he figures he is slightly ahead of the game.

Asked how he managed to keep up his unusual record throughout a 45 year period while carrying on operation of a 120-acre farm and his livestock dealing, Staley's only answer was I always had a hankerin' for a good horse.

Takes Plenty of Nerve

To the uninitiated race horse driving might appear to be rather an uneventful sport. However horse men will tell you it takes nerve to drive, and [illegible] Staley's sulky marked with paint that has been rubbed off other sulkies in the heat of races testify that the Union county veteran has nerve. A spill with other horses pounding behind might mean death or serious injury but Staley has managed to get through unhurt. However he's not a believer in winning at any odds. When other drivers get his horse in a tight spot Staley pulls back and saves the horse from any danger of being tripped. They can crowd the sulky and bump it around if they want to but I don't want them crowding the horse, he said.

Staley predicts harness racing after suffering through depression years so far as gate receipts were concerned is regaining popularity rapidly and that 1937 and following years will see a revival of interest in the track.

His No. 1 recommendation to the men who make race rules would be to limit the number of horses starting in proportion to the width of the track. He opposes starting a big field of horses on a narrow track, favoring holding the races in two sections if necessary.

Betting doesn't worry Staley. He said he prefers not to bet and never counsel his friends to bet on his horse. If I [illegible] I worry so much about the [illegible] handle [illegible] driving [illegible].

Staley doesn't [illegible] favor [illegible] race horse Peter Dear [illegible] his brilliant record [illegible] the [illegible] is reaching [illegible] the Staley farm [illegible] when [illegible] him used to [illegible]. Dear however [illegible] apparently [illegible] feel neglected even though he hadn't been curried recently. He rubbed his nose against Staley's face and pranced. Staley looked at his horse [illegible] and rubbed the animal's head.

Yes sir [illegible] we beat the grand circuit, didn't we?

A NEW PICTURE OF WALLY

CITY MAKES ELABORATE PLANS FOR CHRISTMAS

and girl at the party by Santa Claus himself.

The committee for the party is headed by Gene Hill with Fire Chief [illegible] as financial chairman and C. Z. Zachman in charge of the treat. Young men of the Phalanx club have worked diligently in the last weeks to repair toys contributed by Marion residents and by children at a series of theater parties.

Transportation to and from the theater will be provided by the Marion Rapid Transit Inc. Care of the children at the theater will be in charge of city firemen, men from Buckeye Aerie No. 337 F. O. Eagles, the Phalanx club and the committee members.

To brighten the day for crippled and ill children who will not be able to be at the big party, men of Bird McGinnis Post No. 162 American Legion will start out at 8 a. m. with treats and toys for those boys and girls.

The largest children's dinner ever served in Marion by an individual will be Mayor Smith's parties at 11 a. m. at the Wesley M. E. church and the Salvation Army hall.

Tickets were distributed through the schools and the fortunate boys and girls will feast on roast turkey, mashed potatoes and gravy, peas, celery, cranberry sauce, milk or chocolate milk, pumpkin pie, bread and butter and chocolate covered ice cream bars.

Mayor Smith will defray the costs of the dinner out of that portion of his salary for 1936 which he is spending for municipal and civic purposes.

Dinners at Two Places

Four hundred children will be served at the church and 2[illegible] at the Army hall by city firemen who are not on duty, war veterans and volunteers. The Marion Rapid Transit Inc. will furnish transportation from the Palace theater party to the church. Children who will attend the party at the Army hall will walk the short distance from the theater to the hall. Arrangements for the party were announced last week by City Clerk Harry [illegible].

Entertainment and a treat will be provided for the children who attend the party at night at 7:30 at the Eagles hall. The lodge distributed tickets to the members to be given out as the members wished. Last year 700 boys and girls attended the lodge's Christmas night party.

Tonight business men and residents of Oakland Heights will give a gala party for children of the community under 8 years of age.

Christmas morning services will be held at St. Mary Catholic, St. Paul's Episcopal and the Emmanuel Lutheran churches. Masses will be sung at St. Mary church at [illegible] 6:30, 8, 9:30 and 11 a. m. with Christmas music at all except the 6:30 mass.

A candlelight service and sermon will be conducted at 6:30 a. m. at the Lutheran church. Rev. J. W. Schilling, pastor, will deliver a Christmas sermon on The Lord Hath Done Great Things for Us.

Celebration of holy communion will be at 10:30 a. m. at the Episcopal church. Tonight at 11 the annual eucharist and procession of lights will usher in Christmas morning. Rev. S. S. Hardy, rector, has issued a cordial invitation to the public to join in the service.

The annual Christmas morning service of Marion Commandery No. 36 Knights Templar will be held at 10 a. m. at the Masonic temple. Dr. Edward T. Waring, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, will deliver a brief Christmas message and there will be Christmas music. The service will close promptly at 11 with a toast to the sovereign grand master of the grand encampment, Andrew Agnew of New York state. All Masons and their families have been invited to attend.

Attractive Christmas day programs have been arranged for all Marion theaters to start at 1 p. m. and continue throughout the afternoon and evening.

The only dance scheduled for Christmas night will be the dinner dance at night at 7 at Hotel Harding given by Gamma Mu chapter of Delta Theta Tau sorority for members and invited guests.

Chicken, mashed potatoes, dressing, a green vegetable, celery salad, ice cream and fruit will appease appetites of some 60 boys and girls at the Marion County Children's home. The children have been given a round of parties and treats and tonight there will be a visit from Santa Claus with presents for every one.

Turkey at Jail

A dinner of turkey, mashed potatoes, gravy, dressing and a vegetable will be topped off with mince pie at the Marion county jail. The number to be served fluctuates but it was estimated yesterday that dinner will be prepared for [illegible] in addition to Sheriff and Mrs. Fred [illegible] and the staff.

Thirty-five aged men and women at the Marion County home will be served roast turkey, dressing, gravy, mashed potatoes, jelly, pickles, cranberries and a fruit cake made especially for them. The county will provide a treat of candy and fruit on Christmas day.

Twelve or more children will feast on turkey, chicken and duck replete with all the trimmings at the noon dinner at the Marion county juvenile detention home. Dressing, gravy, sweet and mashed potatoes and fruit gelatine will be followed by dessert of ice cream and cake. The boys and girls have been generously showered with parties and remembrances in the last week from various Marion groups and individuals.

TWO MEN ARRESTED IN WOMAN KILLING

By The Associated Press

WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 24—Two men identified as Alonzo [illegible] and John Sidon, both of Bellaire, O., were held for questioning today in the slaying of Mrs. John Bries, mother of five children. The woman was shot when she surprised intruders who were rifling vending machines in her husband's beer garden. Police Chief Albert Megale said no charges had been filed against the two.

U. S. ACTS TO REMOVE NATIONALS IN CHINA

Military Attache Leaves for Trouble Zone After Hearing Rumor Rebellion Spreads

By The Associated Press

NANKING, Dec. 24—China's hopes for a [illegible] end to Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang's rebellion waned today as the United States [illegible] efforts to evacuate Americans from embattled Shensi province.

Worried by growing reports that additional provinces had rallied to the standard of Marshal Chang, Col. Joseph W. Stilwell, U. S. military attache at Peiping, left for the interior.

He hoped to penetrate as far west as Sianfu, capital of Shensi, where the rebellious marshal [illegible] Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, premier of China.

With the premier were his wife, the American-educated Mei-ling Soong, and her brother Dr. T. V. Soong, endeavoring to treat personally for their relative's release.

Most concern was felt for Americans farther to the interior in Kansu and Northern Shensi provinces where the rebellion to force war on Japan was reported to have spread through Communist uprisings.

Chang Shueh-cheng, brother of the mutinous leader, was arrested at Tientsin and charged with inciting revolt in sympathy with Marshal Chang's coup at Sianfu Dec. 12.

Another brother of Chang has disappeared in reported fear of an attack on his life by friends of Chiang Kai-shek. A plea for a three-day armistice has been the only word from Marshal Chang's headquarters since the arrival of Mme. Chiang.

GOMEZ IMPEACHMENT PUTS BRU IN OFFICE

issue on which his defense staked vindication, that a verdict against the executive would throw Cuba into a military dictatorship.

He was impeached in the house of representatives and brought to trial before the senate after he opposed a nine-cents-a-bag sugar tax bill to finance an army-sponsored program of rural education.

Brings Fight Into Open

His opposition brought into the open his smouldering fight with Col. Batista, strong man, head of the army, who has been the power behind Cuba's government since 1933.

The senators' decision to remove the president was contained in its vote convicting him because of his stand on the sugar tax bill of interfering with the free functioning of the legislative power.

In his statement Gomez attributed his downfall to the long undersurface battle between him and the military.

Within reasonable limits he maintained he sought to cooperate with the army but they wanted more—to rival the executive power and command the palace from Camp Columbia (army headquarters).

Army leaders, Gomez charged, tried to invade the presidential authority through interferences and inspections designed to intervene and establish vigilance over it, depreciating it and tearing from it functions and treasury income over which only the civil administration has authority.

Before vetoing the sugar tax bill the expelled president contended he tolerated army demands that were not prejudicial to the people.

PATROL CHIEF WARNS RECKLESS DRIVERS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 24—Asserting that gloom and sadness have no proper place in the observance of Christmas, Col. Lynn Black, chief of the state highway patrol, urged all motorists today to drive carefully and courteously during the holiday season.

His statement came on the heels of traffic accidents that took the lives of five Ohioans.

AGE PENSION BOARD SECRETARY RESIGNS

service [illegible] up for consideration [illegible] Act [illegible] appoint a county administrator may come up at the next board meeting on Jan. [illegible]

His [illegible] resignation [illegible] follows:

Having to the best of my ability endeavored to serve as a member of the local board in the position of secretary and finding conditions more intolerable at this time than they were at first with every indication of becoming worse, yet I hereby resign as a member of the Marion county board of aid for the aged and in so doing I wish to call your attention to the following.

Our former administrator, Mr. Kirby, was in my opinion grossly and permanently injured in his [illegible].

The resolution by which Mr. Kirby was finally deprived of his office was not passed with any intention of discharging him from his position but solely at the insistence of members of your legal department for the purpose of permitting them to produce such evidence as they claimed to have in support of their charges.

Not a scrap of evidence was ever filed with the local board and in my judgment the charges were not substantiated, therefore Mr. Kirby's discharge in my judgment was not merited and his discharge means the loss of a capable, alert, conscientious and efficient employe of this board.

It is my firm belief that this board as constituted could have overcome any difficulty in the local office if they had been given the opportunity.

This resignation to be effective at once.

Hayner, who lives at 316 Monroe street, has been a member of the board since it was appointed on Oct. 3, 1935 by the state division of aid for the aged following the resignation of the two county commissioners. The commissioners had served as the county pension board up to that time.

Selection of a successor to Hayner according to rules of the state division of aid for the aged is up to Perrodin subject to the approval of the state welfare director.

Dr. C. J. Altmaier, named to the county pension board several months ago and who is chairman of the Marion county Democratic central and executive committee and Eighth district member of the Democratic state central committee, said this morning when he heard of Hayner's letter of resignation that he knew of no intolerable conditions connected with the board. He said he feels the work is progressing satisfactorily and that he regretted hearing of Hayner's resignation.

Mrs. Ruby McNamara, board chairman, made no comment.

Dr. [illegible] Baird said he was not in Marion at the time the board adopted the resolution that resulted in Mr. Kirby's removal and consequently did not have first hand information about the thing Hayner complained of. He said he felt the board could have handled the situation had the matter been left entirely to the board without injuring any one.

Mrs. John Winch, fifth member of the board, said she felt the board had not been given opportunity to work out the local office program in its own way and expressed the opinion the board could have overcome its problem without trouble had it had full cooperation from the state division.

POPE ASKS PEACE TO REPAY HIS PAIN

for Europe and its Christian civilization, he said.

The Holy Father's voice trembled throughout the whole 29 minutes of his Christmas eve message.

At times he seemed to be forcing himself on. At several intervals he paused for a second.

He spoke of the bitter sorrow of our paternal heart caused by the many great evils which these days have fallen like a scourge on humanity, civil society and the church.

Of his own suffering the Pontiff, ill for more than two weeks of slight paralysis and circulatory congestion, told his millions of listeners:

The Divine Goodness is granting us an opportunity to contribute to the prayers, the work and the sacrifices of all by the personal experience of suffering, and until now has marvelously spared us.

Lauds Renewed Praying

And for which the same Divine God is most readily and generously recompensing us with a wondrous and touching union of prayers which lately from every part of the church are incessantly being offered up for the well being of the common father.

His Holiness spoke slowly with an obvious attempt at careful diction. But only scattered passages of his speech came strong and clear as it did before his illness.

In general his tones were faltering, his syllables blurred. At times his voice dwindled to almost a murmur.

His voice strengthened when he began to speak of the bloody conflict in Spain.

But it faltered pitifully when he came to deal with the suffering the war has caused.

SANTA MAY BEAT THE GRIM REAPER

By The Associated Press

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 24—Pain ridden three-year-old Johnny Hernandez, his life ebbing away at the county hospital, looked forward eagerly today to a second visit from Santa Claus.

The little Mexican boy, son of poverty-stricken parents, saw Santa a week ago for the first time in his life. He hadn't known about Christmas until a few days before that when nurses told him the story and held a party for him. It was held then because doctors thought he might not live to Dec. 25.

Johnny, mystified by all the attention, cried as nurses piled toys on his bed but the toys soon claimed his attention and his tears ceased.

DAVEY INAUGURAL TO BE HELD JAN 11

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 24—Gov. Martin L. Davey will take the oath of office for his second term in the executive offices at noon Jan. 11, it was announced today by Democratic state chairman Francis W. Poulson, who said Davey's family and a few friends would be the only persons present. Poulson said the governor's inaugural address would follow at an indoor convention in the nature of a state-wide civic jubilee. Original plans for a civic luncheon have been abandoned.

Airline Officials Say Ship Crashed After Detouring To Avoid Two Other Craft

By The Associated Press

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 24—A failing right engine after interference by two other planes in an attempted landing was advanced today by Braniff Airline officials as possible explanation for the crash of their twin-motored ship which killed six occupants yesterday.

Victims of the test flight were officials and employe.

Theory on cause of accident after preliminary investigation is that plane approached field for landing, was forced to go around due to interference by two other planes, read a telegram by Braniff officials to the department of commerce at Washington.

Right engine failed when throttles were opened.

The ship fell and burst into flames in a corn field near Love field municipal airport.

The victims were Don Walbridge, 36, operations manager; Sterling Perry, 37, maintenance superintendent; W. T. Chambers, 32, crew chief, and Pascal Florence, 30, Hubert Daane, 2[illegible], and Fred Sleeper, 28, mechanics.

The charred bodies were removed after firemen used chemicals to quench the blaze.

Joe Mason, cement worker, witnessed the crash from a nearby building project. He ran to the burning wreckage in time to hear a man pleading:

My God mister please pull me out—I'm burning to death.

I grabbed his belt and tugged, Mason said, but he was caught at the knees. I heard another man back in the cabin groaning. Four of the men must have been killed instantly.

A gas tank explosion forced Mason to retreat.

All victims were married. Daane was wedded last June. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Daane of Grand Rapids, Mich., said the body would be taken there for burial.

PLANES PRESS HUNT FOR CRASH VICTIMS

By The Associated Press

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 24—Baffled ground searchers looked to the air today in their hunt for nine persons in two wrecked Western Air transports, all believed dead.

One party gave up its search in falling snow for the Northwest Airlines plane wrecked last Friday with two pilots aboard in north Idaho but a second group of snow shoers waited on mile high Cemetery ridge for an airplane observer's aid in leading them to the wreck scene.

The other search in its 10th day was in the rugged southwestern sector of Utah for a Western Air Express transport which dropped from sight with seven aboard.

RATIONS MAKE NAZI YULE FEAST MEAGER

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Dec. 24—Wartime regulations on rationing of meat, vegetable fats and bread, enforced by decree and propaganda, curtailed Nazi Germany's Christmas larder today.

Animal feed likewise was ordered rationed in order to spread the dwindling domestic feed supply over the winter.

The ultimate objective was Germany's self-sufficiency in accordance with Chancellor Hitler's four year plan for economic rehabilitation of the third reich.

BONUSES VERY NUMEROUS

INSURANCE COMPANY NAMED IN LAW SUIT

Policyholder Sues To Collect on Disability Clause in Policy.

William I. Hoover petitioned yesterday in common pleas court against the Equitable Life Assurance Co. of New York for judgment for $507.33, which he alleges is due him for total disability payments from two insurance policies which he held with the company.

Mr. Hoover stated in his petition he was issued a $5,000 policy in October, 1924, in consideration of an annual premium of $159.55, which he said he has paid each year. Since April 14, 1935, he stated he has been permanently disabled. The company, notified of the disability, has failed to pay him the $50 a month for which the policy calls and in addition has demanded that he continue paying annual premiums, Mr. Hoover asserted. The policy reads that after permanent disability no further premiums shall be paid, Mr. Hoover said.

A second policy for $1,000, carrying a disability clause, was taken out by Mr. Hoover Dec. 17, 1926. He said he faithfully paid annual premiums of $47.75, and that again the company refused to pay $10 monthly as required by the policy, and also insisted he continue payment of premiums.

He asks $300 in disability payments which he alleges are due him, and $207.33 in premiums which he has paid since declaring his disability. In addition he asks the court to determine his rights for future payments. Wilhelm & Robinson are his attorneys.

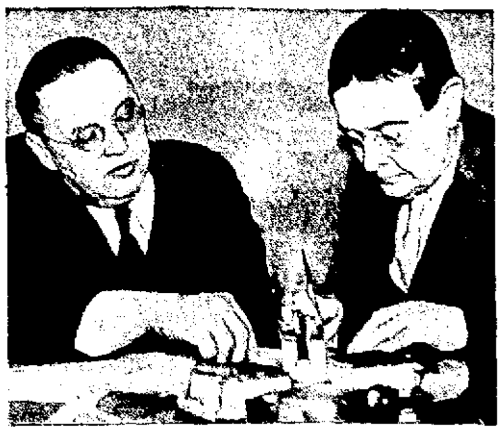
POLICEMAN ADMITS KILLING FIVE



Apparently unmoved, Martin Sullivan, right, 72-year-old policeman of a Pittsburgh suburb, signs his name to a confession naming himself as slayer of five persons as District Attorney Andrew Park witnesses the document. Sullivan ran amuck, apparently because of a story circulated to the effect that he had assaulted a 12-year-old girl, and fatally wounded five persons he said had made the accusation against him, including the parents of his wife.

Yule Decorations Provide Setting for Club Dance

A CANOPY of red streamers showered from the center of the ceiling and caught to boughs of balsam tied with large red ribbon bows which formed the wall panels provided an attractive Yuletide setting for the annual holiday dance arranged for members of the Nine to Twelve Dance club last evening at the Elks club. A colorfully lighted Christmas tree which stood at one end of the hall and an improvised stage in holiday colors from which Bob McMahan's orchestra played the dance program completed the decorative note. The Christmas theme was continued in the programs which were in colors of green and silver decorated with a large poinsettia. Forty five couples attended

COURT NEWS

Company Files Motion

The Kroger Grocery & Baking Co., defendant in a $10,000 damage suit filed by Roscoe V. Rank, filed a motion to strike in common pleas court today listing 3 separate phrases and words which it alleged should be taken from Rank's petition. Rank sued recently for injuries which he alleged he suffered last March 10 when a piece of glass fell from the front of the company's store on South Main street and struck him on the head.

The statements which the company asks be stricken out concerned the violence of the blow, the size of the hole in the plaintiff's head, the tenor of the plaintiff's consultation with doctors, reference to a clicking sound in the plaintiff's neck which he alleged was caused by the blow and the allegation that Mr. Rank has suffered discomfort and inconvenience in daily business and social life.

Mr. Rank named Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Strelitz, Dorothy Strelitz and Rosalie M. Steinhauser as party defendants. He accuses them of negligence in constructing the store front so as to permit the glass to fall. Carter M. Patton is the plaintiff's attorney while Hamilton, Kramer & Wiles of Columbus represent the grocery company. The company listed all the phrases in question as prejudicial, irrelevant and immaterial.

The Detroit branch factory of the Aluminum Company of America also was preparing to resume operations within a few days. Six hundred employes yesterday accepted terms arranged by federal labor conciliators to end the 14 day old strike, which left 1,400 employes idle.

The agreement provided that all employes return to the aluminum plant "as soon as shifts can be arranged and when business conditions permit," that no one would be discriminated against and that "rates of pay for all who have returned to work have been adjusted and the same will apply to those returning within a reasonable time."

Make Auto Parts

The plants of the Kelsey-Hayes and Aluminum companies manufacture parts for automobiles. A shortage of parts due to the strikes curtailed operations in the Dearborn and Kansas City plants of the Ford Motor Co. Other car manufacturers also were confronted by the prospect of having to reduce operations.

Strikes in plants of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. and the Libbey-Owens-Ford Co., which manufacture most of the glass for automobiles, still remained a threat to the motor industry.

Glen W. McCabe, president of the Federation of Flat Glass Workers of America said that "there is no immediate prospect for a settlement of the glass strike."

Arrangements were made to present a play at the Farmers institute Jan. [illegible] and for the installation of officers Jan. 12 at a meeting of [illegible] grange Tuesday night. [illegible] Mrs. Wesley Jenner, Mrs. Kenneth Coon and Mrs. William [illegible] were named to serve as a refreshment committee for the installation. Clay Wilson, Henry Coon and Morris Vinden were named an auditing committee.

A Bible was presented the grange by Henry Thibaut, a gift from the members whose birthdays occur during the third quarter of the year. The charter was draped for the late Howard Hennigh, a member of the grange. An invitation was accepted to visit Old Fort Mills Inc., Saturday afternoon.

The program hour opened with a candle service and the dramatic club sang Christmas carols. The Christmas story from the Bible was read by Miss Ruth Engle and Robert Drake gave a reading, "The Meaning of Christmas." A piano solo was contributed by Mrs. Carl Schaber and Mrs. Charles Wilson gave a reading, "Why the Chimes Rang." Contests were followed by refreshments served by the master, Robert Eisele.

Ott and Medwick Share Honors in National League Batting

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 24 — You couldn't have squeezed an eyelash between Mel Ott and Ducky Medwick last baseball season so far as slugging and timely hitting honors went in the National league.

The official averages in those miscellaneous departments, released yesterday, showed the New York Giants' "Little Melvin" and the St. Louis Cardinals' Ducky Wucky wound up in a blanket finish to share whatever glory was handed around.

As a team, however, the Gas House Gang from St. Louis, paced by Medwick's big bat, swept the boards, outclassing even the heavy hitting Pittsburgh Pirates and the surprisingly slugging Phillies.

Ott No. 1 Slugger

Ott took the individual slugging championship, finishing with a .588 average for the season by hitting for 314 total bases in 534 trips to the plate.

The Cards' outfielder wound up fourth in the slugging section, with a percentage of .577. He trailed Ott, Dolph Camilli of the Phillies and Johnny Mize, the Cards' prize rookie, but was not far behind any of them. Ott, on the other hand, was a poor second in total bases, with his aggregate 314, and a surprisingly close runner-up in runs batted in, with 135.

The various other divisions, coming under the league's "miscellaneous" heading, saw the pirates doing most of the "champion" producing. Lloyd Waner struck out the fewest times, chalking up a near-record minimum of five whiffs in 106 games. His teammate, Bill Brubaker, was the "strikeout king," fanning 96 times in 145 games. Another Buc, Arky Vaughan, led the league for the third straight year in getting bases on balls. He worked pitchers for 118 passes.

Ival Goodman of the Cincinnati Reds had the hardest time getting away from "bean balls." He was hit nine times while at bat. The Giants' Jojo Moore and the Phils' Lou Chiozza, hit into the fewest double plays—three each. Boston's Hal Lee was the goat in that department, stealing the title away from Ernie Lombardi, Reds' catcher, by driving into 23 twin killings.

By driving in 135 runs, Ott passed the 100-mark for eight years during his career. Previously, he and Pittsburgh's Pie Traynor had been tied with a record total of seven seasons each.

Hit Into 3 Double Plays

Babe Herman of the Reds and the Pirates' Brubaker contributed another kind of record. Each hit into three double plays in one game to tie the loop mark. Herman did it against Philadelphia in June and Brubaker against Cincinnati in September.

The Cards' slugging championship percentage was .410, nine points better than the second-place Phillies compiled. The Gas House Gang hit for a total of 2,270 bases and drove 733 runs across the plate, leading the Pirates in both of these divisions.

Pittsburgh batsmen walked the most times, 517; the Phillies fanned most, 586; and the Bees

Plan Crop Insurance

To offset the natural disasters which ... strike the farmer, Secretary Wallace's ... committee have devised an all risk crop insurance plan at the request of the President. It will be submitted to congress. It is expected to be ... in the first year.

Wallace favors payment of both premiums and losses ... under a system that would ... grain from ... years for use ... year. Several ... men also have crop insurance plans which vary ... from that favored by the secretary.

Another agricultural problem which may produce legislation is farm tenancy. Wallace says the tenant group varies from the poverty-stricken sharecropper in the cotton belt to the renter of ... acre ... in the corn belt and the federal program must be as broad.

Since billions of dollars would be needed to finance all tenants as independent farmers the secretary is known to favor a modest experiment ... in this field with broad activity to improve landlord-tenant relationships.

Some federal legislation relating to the recurring drouth in the great plains also is expected. The President named a separate commission to suggest a long time national program.

Federal leaders favor return of some of the crop lands in the area to grass and trees and they are considering a vast program of small dams and reservoirs to conserve scanty water supplies.

HERMINE, Pa.—Merry Christmas means just that to this western Pennsylvania coal town: the town will have a few more months of life instead of being condemned to abandonment.

The Ocean Coal Co. changed its mind about halting operations and gave the miners their jobs and homes for another three months as a Christmas present.

READING, Pa.—A ten-year-old Nova Scotia boy is going to get a Christmas package from the family of Charles G. Karver, florist of nearby Boyertown.

Karver bought a Christmas tree and found this note tied to it:

"I am a little boy 10 years old. My mother and father are very poor as they have a large family and I am not going to school at present as my clothing aren't fit in cold weather. Will some kind lady or gentleman be good enough to send me a needed present as I don't expect to see Santa Claus. From a little boy, Maurice Feltmate, care of East ... Valley, Guys county, Nova Scotia."

His presents are on their way.

SANTA DISTRIBUTES GIFTS TO CHILDREN

Steam Shovel Association Holds Annual Party for Youngsters.

Santa Claus made a brief visit to the Marion Steam Shovel gymnasium last night to distribute gifts to more than 1,700 children of employes. The party was held under the auspices of the M. S. S. Athletic association and began at 5 o'clock.

It was estimated that more than 2,300 persons attended the party. Santa Claus made his entrance through a chimney erected on the stage at the east end of the hall an within an hour's time had distributed the specially packed gifts to the children. Each gift included an orange, and a half-pound each of peanuts and candy.

Two hundred other children, whose father's work on the night shift at the plant, and were unable to attend last night, were to receive their gifts today. The party was arranged by a committee composed of William Rinehart, chairman, Gail Van Gorden, F. E. Kemmerly, G. E. Sobers and Thomas Andrews.

INCREASE SHOWN IN FALL PIG CROP

Marion County Record Up to Average, Is Belief

An increase of about six per cent in the fall pig crop this year over last was reported today by the federal department of agriculture, according to The Associated Press. County Agent S. L. Anderson said he believed Marion county had a similar increase in hog production.

The department also said the combined spring and fall 1936 crop was about 20 per cent above the previous year, but at the same time reported a prospective decrease of about five per cent in the number of sows to farrow in next spring as compared to last.

The department said 23,818,000 pigs had been saved this fall, 10,040,000 more than last fall. The number saved was 11 per cent under the five year average of 1930-34.

The combined spring and fall crops was estimated at 65,690,000 head, or 10,744,000 more than last year.

CITY FILES AMENDED SALARY SUIT ANSWER

Lists Six Points of Defense Against Action Brought by Former Clerk.

The city of Marion today filed its amended answer to the petition of John H. Powell, former city clerk, for back salary, as directed by Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young recently. Powell had filed a motion objecting to phrases in the original answer which said his salary had been reduced by the city "because of economic conditions."

The city's amended answer, filed by City Solicitor Ralph E. Cathart, lists the following defenses against Powell's claim for $824.55 in wage cuts in 1933 and 1934.

1. Powell consented to the reduction.

2. He entered into an agreement with other city officials regarding the reduction.

3. He waived his rights by signing payroll receipts.

4. He was stopped from making claim for the back salary, because he had let the city to believe no claim would be made.

5. He made no official protest when he received checks for the reduced amounts.

6. He has been paid in full.

Trial of the suit before Judge Young is set for Dec. 31. Paul M. Jones and George T. Geran represent the plaintiff. Powell has asserted his salary was fixed at $1,800 a year by state law.

MRS. MYRON BARE, 62, HURT IN ACCIDENT

Special to The Star

SYCAMORE, Dec. 24 — Mrs. Myron Bare, 62, of near McCutchenville, suffered cuts on her head and left hand, and other injuries when she was hit by a car driven by Ralph Kinney, in front of the Eli Walters home near McCutchenville about 10 last night. She was removed to the Tiffin hospital. The extent of her injuries was not learned by relatives at noon today.

Mrs. Bare, who had accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Walters to Sycamore, had just alighted from the Walters car, and stepped into the road en route to her home about two miles away, when she was hit. Mr. Kinney swerved his car in an attempt to avoid hitting her, relatives stated.

200 CHILDREN AT HOME CIRCLE PARTY

More than 200 adults and children attended the party given last night in the Knights of Pythias hall by Marion Circle No. 181, Protected Home circle, for the junior circle.

Santa Claus distributed exchange gifts from a decorated Christmas tree. A program included a dialogue by eight girls and miscellaneous entertainment by Esther Knight, Dorothy Kaelber, Carl Koch, Isadore Birnbaum and Ruth Keltner. A dance followed the program. The next meeting will be held in one week.

SYCAMORE WOMAN CLAIMED BY DEATH

Special to The Star

SYCAMORE, Dec. 24—Mrs. Olive L. Hartranft, 86, widow of Stephen M. Hartranft, died at 9 p. m. yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Gregg. Injuries suffered in a fall three weeks ago caused her death.

She was born Oct. 17, 1850, in Pickaway county and prior to coming to Sycamore several years ago lived at Mexico, near here. Surviving are two children, Mrs. Gregg and Mrs. David Stalter also of Sycamore. One brother, James R. Ried of Doball, O., and one sister, Mrs. Lucy Vanse of Asheville, O., also survive.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the Gregg home, and burial will be made in the cemetery at Mexico.

WOMAN IS INJURED IN FALL AT HOME

Mrs. Bailey Van Meter of the Lucas road, was injured when she fell out of the haymow while doing chores at her home about 2 p. m. today. She was removed to the City hospital in the L. A. Axe ambulance. The extent of her injuries had not been determined.

TWO REPORT PURSES GONE

Two Marion people reported to police yesterday afternoon that while shopping in uptown stores their pocketbooks were either stolen or lost. Mrs. Herman Hinton of 203 Chicago avenue, reported a black coin purse containing about $5 missing, and W. R. Anspach of 127 Franconia avenue reported a billfold containing $5 missing.

HEDGES NEW TRIAL MOTION IS ARGUED

Motion for a new trial of the suit of Thomas, John and Henry Hedges against Nora Smith and others to have the will of their brother, Frank, set aside, was argued today before Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young. Judge Young reserved his decision. A jury last week set aside the will, which gave the bulk of a $14,000 estate near Morral to Vay E. Borland, who had engaged in share farming with Frank Hedges several years before Frank's death. Borland was not related to the Hedges family.

Plaintiffs' attorney, Grant E. Mouser Jr., and W. P. Moloney, defense attorney, argued the motion. Mr. Moloney claimed the court had erred in overruling two defense motions, during the three-day trial, for a directed verdict.

HENRY RENSCH, 73, DIES AT GALION

Special to The Star

GALION, Dec. 24—Henry Rensch, 73, a retired boiler maker, died at 12:40 a. m. today in Good Samaritan hospital. He had been ill two weeks with nephritis. He was born Jan. 22, 1863, in Galion, and had lived all his life here.

Surviving are two brothers, John Rensch of South Vine street, Marion, and Frank Rensch of Galion. Three sisters preceded him in death during the last eight months.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. at the Snyder funeral home. Rev. Harry Merle, pastor of the First Lutheran church, will officiate and burial will be made in Fairview cemetery.

Wool Market

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Dec. 24—Trade in wool in the Boston market was somewhat slower than at the opening of the week largely as a result of seasonal influences.

Prices on a few scattered transactions being closed were very firm. Fine territory wools in original bags were quoted mostly at $1.00@1.02 scoured basis for short French combing lengths and at 1.03@1.05 for average to good French combing. Fine delaine combing Ohio fleeces of average shrinkage were quoted at 42@44 cents in the grease, while some exceptionally light shrinking lots were held at 45@46 cents. Staple combing ½ blood Ohio fleeces moved at 44@46 cents in the grease, and combing medium Ohio fleeces were firm at 49@51 cents for ⅜ blood and 45@50 cents for ¼ blood.

TURKEYS PRIZES IN TRAP SHOOT

Trapshoot artists from Marion and this district competed yesterday afternoon in a turkey shoot at the Marion Gun club grounds on the Edison pike. Thirty turkeys, all prospective Christmas dinners, were awarded to the high scorers in 10-target events. Merchandise including 250 pounds of sugar was also given away.

Competition for the turkeys was especially keen yesterday and it was necessary for those who won the awards to crack 10 straight targets and then shoot-off the tie in extra competition. In addition to shooters from Marion others were present from Columbus, New Washington, Bucyrus, Upper Sandusky, Mansfield, Delaware, Tiffin, Genoa, Woodville, Broadway and Springfield.

CHILDREN'S PARTY HELD BY MOOSE

Families of the members were guests at a Children's party given by Marion Lodge No. 889, Loyal Order of Moose, last night in the lodge hall. About 50 children were given a treat by a Santa Claus and entertainment included a ventriloquist sketch. About 100 members and guests were present.

Arrangements for the party were in charge of a committee composed of Harry Hoffman, Pearl Redman, Elmer Hoffman and R. J. Briggs.

WAR RUMORS SEND WHEAT UP 3 CENTS

Germany Reported Buying 8,000 Tons While European Demand Increases.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 24—Late action of wheat prices today swept the Chicago market more than 3½ cents upward, special notice being taken of ticklish European conditions regarding Spain.

There were reports that Germany had bought 8,000 tons of wheat, and that all North American export offers to Europe were accepted. Importing countries apparently were being forced to bid prices up to obtain supplies.

At the close, wheat was 3⅛@3⅜ above yesterday's finish, Dec. 1.39⅝@⅝, May 1.34⅝@¾, corn ½ to 1 cent up, Dec. 1.09⅜@½, May new 1.05⅝@½, oats ⅛@¾ advanced, and rye bulging 4⅛@4⅝ cents. Provisions results varied from 2 cents setback to 27 cents gain.

HIDDEN PROVERB CONTEST

$78 FREE PRIZES

Read all of the ads closely. In certain ones there will be ONE WORD that is distinctly out of place and contributes no meaning to the wording of the advertisement.

Put a circle around each word that you find. Then take all of the words and put them in their correct order to form a familiar Proverb.

Next draw a circle around the advertisement in this section which in your opinion states the best advertising message—and write one sentence giving your reason.

Name the day and date of the paper from which you are making your entry.

Entries will be judged according to correctness neatness and originality.

For the best entries each day the merchants advertising in this section cooperating with The Star will award a First Prize of $2.00 and a Second Prize of $1.00.

Grand Prizes totaling $18 and consisting of $[illegible] first prize $[illegible] second prize $4 $2 $1 as third fourth and fifth prizes respectively will be awarded to winners selected from the 40 winners of daily prizes.

Persons participating in this contest may submit ONE ENTRY ONLY for each day.

All entries must be postmarked or brought in to the CLASSIFIED CHRISTMAS GIFT HINTS EDITOR not later than 12 o'clock midnight the day following publication for each day's participation.

Watch this space for names of winners.

Checks will be mailed to winners following publication of their names.

Employes of The Star or members of their families are not eligible to enter this contest.
